

Exercise 1

Complete the following questions.

1. The Java programming language is said to be platform-independent because
 - a. Compiles on several platforms without modification.
 - b. Does not allow pointers to be used to manipulate memory.
 - c. Allows developers to create applications once that execute on several platforms.
 - d. Is multithreaded.
2. The Java programming language is loosely based upon which of the following languages
 - a. C++
 - b. C
 - c. C#
 - d. Fortran
3. Which of the following is part of the Java SE SDK
 - a. The Java Runtime Environment
 - b. The Java Virtual Machine Specification
 - c. A C++ Compiler
 - d. A linker

THE END.